Seminar Title:
Rethinking Failure in Law & Science

Dr. Seymore is an alumnus of Notre Dame, earning both his Ph.D. in Chemistry and J.D. in Law. His research focuses on patent law and its adaptation through time due to scientific advancements, as to effectively influence policy. Professor Seymore is a faculty advisor to the Vanderbilt Law Review and an elected member of the American Law Institute.

Friday, February 23rd
12:00 noon
Carey Auditorium
(107 Hesburgh Library)

Co-sponsors: Environmental Change Initiative, Eck Institute for Global Health, Department of Biological Sciences, Department of Chemistry & Biochemistry, The Intellectual Property Law Society